County Farm Bureau Program Adopted

Advisory Committee Decides on Legume Campaign as Beneficial to Everybody—Will Continue Spray Service — Agricultural Bureau Favored as Mutually Beneficial—Will Ask Common Council to Abolish Daylight Saving Nuisance.

The members of the advisory committee of the Ulster County Farm Bureau met Saturday at the court house at which time the members of the committee discussed at considerable length the program which will be carried out during the coming season in Ulster county. The meeting, called to order shortly after 10:30 o'clock by President Millard Davis, proved to be a very interesting one. At noon lunch was served at the Advance Restaurant and after having their picture taken in front of the court house the members again went into session and discussed a varied program until late in the afternoon.

Among the many things which were discussed were the annual picnic, the annual banquet, daylight saving, milk and the value of crows and the probability of preventing fruit thefts by posting property. Many other topics were discussed, among them the status of the black current, gooseberry and common currant in relation to the white pine blister rust situation and the value of alfalfa and other legumes to the farmers of Ulster county.

Legume Campaign Discussed.

The legume campaign, which is something new for Ulster county, was discussed and explained by Prof. Baron, of the State College. He explained the method which would be carried on in the event of the adoption of the legume campaign as a portion of the Farm Bureau work for the next two years. The campaign was laid out in an address by Prof. Baron which was given preceding the adoption of the league campaign by the Bureau. Prof. Baron stated that the legume campaign was a large program and involved many interests. The plan calls for the institution of a campaign which will cover a period of two years, during which the various results will be observed.

A man will be provided by the State College to carry on extensive work in the county, lectures will be given and a thorough investigation into the growing of legumes will be made. In all parts of the county, Prof. Baron said, alfalfa could not be grown but there was some legume which could be grown to advantage. For the dairymen a legume was a valuable food, high in protein and a feed which would materially cut down the feed bill of any dairy. It was also of a high fertilizing value. Experiments in growing rotation of crops showed that where a legume was grown as one of the crops every third year the yield had been very materially increased.

Under the plan, meetings will be held next winter and a very complete survey will be conducted to determine where alfalfa, clover or some other legume will pay best.

At the conclusion of the talk by Prof. Barron the idea was discussed by both the fruit men and the dairymen and at the conclusion of a lengthy discussion participated in by many present it was decided to put on the legume campaign as a major part of the program for the next two years.

Every Community Represented.

On roll call by communities by Temporary Chairman L. G. Haviland practically every community was found to have at least one representative present, an attendance which has never before been bettered. In fact Clintondale was present 100 per cent and as a result was presented with a box of cigars at the afternoon session. President Davis could not say from where the cigars came.

Roll call was followed by a short report of President Davis in which he stated that Ulster county now has the second largest Farm Bureau in the state being excelled only by Monroe county where a special drive for members had been made. In his report he referred to the legume campaign and its importance to members.

Manager Wigsten reported as to what had been going on since the last meeting of the council. The membership drive has been a success as had the annual banquet. Framing demonstration had been held with an average attendance of 18. Since January, winter meetings had been held in every organized community in conjunction with the Home Bureau.

Agricultural Bureau Proposed.

Before the discussion of the 1926 program was taken up, Secretary Coe of the Chamber of Commerce spoke. He advanced the idea of an Agricultural Bureau from the Chamber of Commerce to cooperate with the Farm Bureau and also of a poultry show next winter at which various farm machinery and tools could be shown, as well as exhibits from the boys' clubs of the county. He also suggested that the Harvest Campaign of the Chamber of Commerce be put on again this year.

Coe stated that recently a survey had been made and it was found that about 60 per cent of the business of Kingston was from rural sections.

C. C. Dumond reported that a committee from the Farm Bureau had met with the Chamber of Commerce and various things had been discussed but nothing definite done. Further meetings would be held.

Spray Service Program.

Mr. Mills, spray service agent for the county, was introduced. He said he would shortly be located at Highland where he would be available for members. He expected to be at his office each morning, where he could be reached by telephone from 6 until 7:30 o'clock. His program would be so arranged that it would be again possible to get him about noon in case some farmer had a problem to solve which had come up during the morning work. He would work out such a program for his day's business later after he had become familiar with his territory.

The program was taken up item by item and each project thoroughly discussed.

Cooperate for Grade A Milk.

Under the dairy and livestock portion of the program the matter of milk production came up. The Bureau and the Ulster County Accredited Herd Association will cooperate in every way with the milk producers of the county so that they may produce Grade A milk for sale in Kingston should such a demand be made by the health board. In an emergency where a city demands either pasteurized milk or Grade A milk, the state will make an exception and even though not working in that area will test so as to give the milk producers an opportunity to meet the requirements of Grade A milk. Under normal conditions the county is taken up under an area plan and no testing is made outside the area which is being worked. So far in the county but one complaint has been made as to the price allowed by re-actors after test.

Continue Culling Service.

Under poultry it was reported that 20,000 birds had been culled last year at a cost of $400. One-third had been culled out and poultrymen had saved a very large amount of money through this service. It will be continued this year.

Other Important Matters.

A new service will be put on this year for the vegetable men. A mail service sent out from the college to the Farm Bureau manager will be reprinted and mailed to local members. This will include a spray information service for the growers of vegetables.

Duncan Rankin of Hudson, white pine blister rust worker, was present and spoke on that topic as well as reforesting of waste lands. He explained the costs of reforesting and how to proceed with the work.

With reference to the annual banquet, it was announced that a larger place would have to be secured next fall for the banquet as it was necessary to disappoint many last fall. An effort to get the state armory or some other large place will be made.

Want Daylight Saving Opposed.

Daylight saving came up for a large portion of the program. After being thoroughly discussed from every angle it was decided to have the meeting go on record as opposed to daylight saving. It was further voted to send a delegation to meet with the common council Tuesday evening, April 6, and urge the repeal of the daylight saving ordinance in the city of Kingston. Several dairy and fruit growers argued that the repeal of the ordinance in Kingston would not relieve their situation since they were compelled to meet New York city time where they sold their produce.

Mr. Mosdrill urged the repeal of the law and stated that the farmers did not want it and he thought that the majority of city people did not want it. He had talked to few who were in favor of it.

Beauty Shows His Position.

Millard Davis was appointed chairman of the committee to wait on the common council and Fred DuBois was appointed vice chairman. Several of the members stated they would be present at the meeting of the council on April 6. John Beatty said he was dealing with Kingston people and was not going to appear at the meeting because he did not want to interfere and cause friction between himself and the people of the city to whom he was selling produce. The aldermen were elected to represent the city people and a demand by the farmers to repeal a law wanted by the city people would put the aldermen in a bad condition.

C. C. DuMond stated that it would be no good to have the law repealed in Kingston when New York city and Boston, the two big fruit markets, were on daylight saving time and the fruit grower was compelled to adjust themselves to those markets. He suggested a shortening of the daylight saving period to three months.

Several changes were advanced, among them being the fact that Kingston in repealing the law would set a pace which others would follow until finally New York would be compelled to give up daylight saving.

Charged With Defrauding Banks

Three Are Held Charged With Passing Bad Checks on Three Banks in St. Petersburg, Fla.

New York, March 29.—Mrs. Doris Della Berne, wife of Dr. Louis P. Berne, a plastic surgeon, is in custody here today charged with having defrauded three banks in St. Petersburg, Fla., of $30,000 by passing bad checks. Other estimates place the amount as high as $100,000.

Arrested with Mrs. Berne were her brother, Elliit Jaffe, 21, and Paul Rosenthal, 32, son of a wealthy shirt manufacturer with whom she is said to have eloped more than a year ago.

All are being held in connection with the passing of bad checks in Florida.

Mrs. Berne collapsed in her husband's arms as she was being booked. Dr. Berne is the plastic surgeon who has remodeled the features of many notables, including, he says, Jack Dempsey and Fanny Brice, the actress.

Dr. Berne said Rosenthal's real name is D. Paul Rosen. He said Mrs. Berne met Rosenthal while he (the doctor) was studying surgery in Germany and eloped with her. He said she took $45,000 from a safe deposit box with her. Rosenthal, he said, deserted her two months later for a Philadelphia actress.

The three St. Petersburg banks involved are The First National Bank, The American Bank and Trust Company and The Central National Bank.

Shaver Appeals To Democrats

Washington, March 29.—Clem L. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, broadcast an appeal to the Democrats of the nation today to get behind the party's candidates for congress in the approaching campaign.

"Our situation is far from discouraging," Shaver said. "Of the 48 states, 24 have Democratic governors. Democrats constitute 42 per cent of the House of Representatives, and 40 per cent of the Senate.

"Thirty-four senators are to be elected next fall. Only seven are Democrats, and they are from safely Democratic states. A gain of ten of the 27 seats now held by Republicans would give the Democrats a majority."

Shaver intimated that President Coolidge's alleged efforts to "control" the government regulatory commissions such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Trade Commission, and the Tariff Commission would be one of the Democrats' prime campaign issues.

Academy Honors Milton Artist

James Scott, Milton artist, has received the high honor of acceptance from the National Academy, New York, for his painting, "Over the Valley," which is on exhibition at the Academy. The painting was made four years ago in France and depicts a scene near Nice, on the Riviera. Mr. Scott's annual exhibit in the Babcock Galleries has always attracted favorable attention. A request was made by the New York City Club for a loan of the entire exhibit consisting of 42 paintings. When Mr. Scott's comparative youth is considered his art work is especially worth of note and is steadily carrying him in the world of art.

Fire Damages Albany Church

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Fire which broke out shortly before noon today in the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Ten Broeck and Livingstone avenue, threatened to destroy the edifice. A second alarm was turned in and most of the city's fire fighting apparatus was called out.

The blaze for a time threatened to destroy the edifice but was finally checked. The damage was estimated at $2,500.

Fight Over Split Led to Arrest

New York, March 29.—Richard Reese Whittemore, the "Candy Kid" bandit chief, who volunteered to reveal the story of his criminal career in order to free his wife, "The Tiger Kid," from the clutches of the law, was grilled again today by the authorities seeking to learn the hiding place of the $1,000000 loot admittedly stolen by the "Night Club Bandits" in the past year.

Whittemore's story, which has already led to the arrest of one man in Baltimore and caused a general alarm to be broadcast for four others, still is unsatisfactory to District Attorney Joab H. Banton, who threatened this morning that unless Whittemore volunteers a more complete story, "The Tiger Kid" will remain behind the bars.

A quarrel within the ranks over the division of the spoils was the indirect cause of the round-up of the Whittemore gang, police learned today.

The life of Anthony Paladino, first of the gang to "squeal," had been threatened by his fellow bandits three days before his arrest. The "Mob" accused Paladino with holding out on them regarding a sale of the loot he made to a "fence."

"If there was any double crossing to be done, I decided that I would be in on it", Paladino is said to have told police.

Blood Test to Detect Cancer

Liverpool, England, March 29—The claim that a means has been found for detecting the inception of cancer by means of a simple blood test is made by Dr. H. McCormick Mitchell, senior medical officer of the Cancer Hospital here.

Although English medical men are not entirely convinced of Dr. Mitchell's theory, he is enthusiastic and declares that his finding is "the dawn of a great discovery which will bring consolation and comfort to many suffering hearts."

"By means of a cleverly designed apparatus," Dr. Mitchell said in an interview with the International News Service, "this scientist can now examine a few drops of a patient's blood and detect cancer in its earlier stages in any part of the body.

"Further than this, by a similar blood test six months after an operation the scientist is able to discover whether the operation has been successful in removing all traces of cancer from the organs affected.

"This method has been evolved after five years of research. The instrument used consists of means for measuring blood reactions spectroscopically."

Lambert Spoke At Rally Here

Arnold N. Lambert, recently appointed assistant secretary of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union, was the speaker at the rally of Christian Endeavor workers held in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Lambert proved a very forceful speaker and made a deep impression upon his audience. The song service was led by W. W. Brady, Jr., while L. C. Dixon, president of the Ulster County C. E. Union, presided. Musical selections were rendered by the Mandolin Club of the Y. W. C. A.

This evening Mr. Lambert will address a rally of Southern Ulster C. E. workers at the Highland Presbyterian Church, making his fifth address over the week end in Ulster county. Saturday evening he spoke at the Hurley Reformed Church; Sunday morning in the Mt. Marion Reformed Church and Sunday evening in the Katsbaan Reformed Church.

Prices Down to Lower Levels

New York, March 29.—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange declined today to the lowest levels of the year as the result of a fresh outburst of selling which converged on the market from all parts of the country.

Brokers had an influx of selling orders this morning, with only scattering buying orders to match them. Pessimism dominated the market.

United States Steel declined to 113¾, lowest price of the year. General Motors broke to 113¾, also a new low, and Hudson Motor, which has been selling around 80, dropped to 77¾.

RUBEGRD PLAYED RETURN MATCH WITH CITY JUDGE

Frank Hubbard of Port Chester, who had secured an honorable discharge from the United States Army, played a return match with Judge Schofield in police court today. On Saturday he was arraigned on a charge of panhandling and said he had a job waiting at Alsen and was discharged with a suspended sentence. That evening he was found panhandling on Wall street by Officer Brophy. This morning Judge Schofield sentenced Hubbard to thirty days in jail.

Governor Smith Ordered to Bed

Suffering With Sore Throat and a Touch of Grip—Had Planned to Sign Tax Reduction Bills Today.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Governor Al Smith was ordered to bed by his doctor today suffering from a sore throat and a touch of grip.

The governor had planned to come to the executive chamber in the Capitol at 12:30 this afternoon to sign two income tax reduction bills. The movie cameras were lined up around the governor's desk, and the movie men were waiting for the governor to appear.

At 12:45, George B. Graves, the governor's secretary, announced that the governor had been ordered to bed, and that he would not come to the capitol today.

The governor, according to Graves, had not been feeling well for the last two days.

"Yesterday the governor told me he had a touch of sore throat but he said he would come to the capitol today," said Graves.

"When the doctor examined the governor this morning he ordered him back to bed. I guess the doctor is afraid the governor has a touch of the grip.

At the executive mansion it was said there was nothing serious about the governor's illness, but that the doctor ordered him to bed so as to prevent him from getting any more cold.

On Saturday the governor developed a slight cold, but he remained at the capitol until late in the afternoon. Yesterday he did not feel any better, and complained of a slight sore throat. Today his throat was worse and Dr. Daniel B. Lynch was called. After examining the governor, Dr. Lynch ordered him to bed.

Accident Fatal To Switchman

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Henry Best, 65, a switchman of the United Traction Company died in the Memorial Hospital this morning as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident yesterday. Bests' death was the first automobile fatality listed in Albany this year.

Best was attempting to throw a switch at Pearl and State streets yesterday morning when a truck of the Hudson Motor Freight Company, driven by Lester Daghn ran him down. The injured man was rushed to the hospital where he died without regaining consciousness. Coroner John J. Skelly, who is investigating the accident said death was due to a fractured skull.

Daghn was questioned for several hours by police and later released on parole pending further investigations.

Best, who had lost his left arm as a result of a railroad accident more than thirty years ago was a familiar figure at downtown street intersections where he had been stationed for several years.

Little Boy Had Leg Fractured

Robert, the four-year-old son of Joseph Flannery of No. 69 West Union street, is in the Benedictine Hospital with a fractured leg and a scalp wound received Sunday morning in a fall from the running board of a Ford coupe.

Don Amand of East Kingston had parked his Ford near 69 West Union street and while he was gone from the car the little chap came along and sat on the running board. Amand entered his car the opposite side without seeing the little chap and when he started his car the boy fell, but fell clear of the car. He was rushed to the hospital where Dr. Chandler attended him.

Mr. Amand later reported the accident to the police.

Cosmetics' Cost in The Income Tax

State Will Scrutinize Such Items in Musical Star's Expense Account—Drawing the Line Between Professional and Personal Expenses.

Albany, March 29.—Expenses of $350 for cosmetics and $3,000 for gowns against earnings of over $25,000 were claimed in the recently filed state income tax return of a star in a prominent New York musical review.

In itemizing the first deduction, this dancer indicated certain amounts for eyelash tonic, golden wash, rouge, barrettes and hair pins.

"This return when audited," said Director Thomas M. Lynch, of the State Income Tax Bureau, "will be subjected to scrutiny as to whether the taxpayer can substantiate by records the deductions which she claimed.

"Other amounts in her return included $800 for cleaning costumes, $200 for photos, $1,000 for stockings, $1,000 for song arrangements, $1,300 for advertising and $500 for ballet boots.

"There will be promptly disallowed the amounts which this artist tried to deduct for expense of a dancing coach and for singing instructions.

"It is true," concluded the director, "that the law permits professional persons to claim as a deduction the cost of supplies actually used but these items do not extend to those of a personal nature. Doctors, dentists, lawyers and others in the professional ranks are allowed the expenses in the operation and repair of an automobile used professionally, their dues to professional societies and subscriptions to professional journals. Of course, they may also deduct rent paid for their offices and amounts expended for fuel, telephone and other proper expenses in connection with the maintenance of that office.

"Books, furniture and equipment of a permanent character are subject to proper depreciation deductions."

PRESCOTT DIES IN THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Bellefonte, Pa., March 29.—George H. Prescott, of Pittsburgh, went to his death in the electric chair in Rockview Penitentiary here today for the murder of Mrs. Fern Thase. He went to the chair unassisted. He made no statement in the death chamber. His wife claimed the body.

Mrs. Thase, also married, was killed in her home in Pittsburgh in April, 1924. The state brought out at the trial that Prescott, her alleged paramour, killed her in a jealous rage when he suspected she was accepting the attentions of others.

Prescott was strapped in the electric chair at 7 a. m., and after one contact was pronounced dead at 7:05.

BOMB EXPLODES BENEATH PARTING OF THE WAYS HOME

Pittsburgh, March 29. — James Bredle, 32, a passerby, was probably fatally injured, five others sustained severe cuts and bruises and 12 houses were damaged today when a bomb was exploded beneath the home of Roilo McBride, superintendent of the Parting of the Ways Home.

McBride, his wife and three children, asleep in the house at the time were injured, but will recover.

The entire neighborhood was thrown into an uproar. Hundreds of sleepers were awakened by the explosion and sent to the streets in scanty attire.

McBride could advance no reason why his home should be bombed.

SHAW UNDISTURBED BY FRANKAU'S ATTACKS

London, March 29.—George Bernard Shaw is entirely undisturbed by the attacks which have been made against him in New York by Gilbert Frankau, British novelist, who charges that Shaw and H. G. Wells have misinterpreted British affairs for the American people.

"As no one will believe Mr. Frankau or what he says, I wish him the best of luck, hope it brings him a lot of money," said Shaw today. "His allegations are not worth considering. I am only amused. I won't tour America to correct the libels he spreads."

A Mistake, Says Miss Bennett

Dancer Recovers From Effects of Drinking an Acid Potion, Which She States She Swallowed, Thinking It Was Cough Medicine.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 29.—Barbara Bennett, who succeeded Leonora Hughes as dancing partner of the famed Maurice today had almost recovered from the effects of drinking an acid potion, which she declared she swallowed by mistake, thinking it was a cough medicine.

Police, who found Miss Bennett unconscious in her Hollywood apartment after, they said, she drank the poison following a quarrel with her sweetheart, intimated they would make no further investigation of the case, although Miss Bennett's father, Richard Bennett, noted stage star, was reported to have asked the authorities to make a full report to him.

Miss Bennett appealed to the officers to aid her in the search for $3,000 worth of jewelry, which she said disappeared from her apartment after she was removed to a hospital for treatment. The missing jewelry, the dancer told the officers, included a $1,000 moonstone and diamond cigarette case, a $500 diamond pin and a $800 clock.

The cigarette case, which the dancer admitted she valued highly, was said to have been given her by a prominent motion picture star and reported to be the same man Miss Bennett was said to have quarreled with before she was found moaning with acid burns in her apartment.

Miss Bennett, however, declared that the actor, who is a married man but not living with his wife, was "only a dear friend."

"Why he is already married and has a child—it is ridiculous to connect my name with his," she said.

Miss Bennett received messages from both her father, who is in St. Louis, and her mother, in New York, to join them. Adrienne Bennett, her mother, invited her to join her on a trip to Europe, but the dancer said she intended to remain in Los Angeles.

"I intend to stay here until May, when I am going to Europe," she said. "I am not in love with any one and I am very happy. I swallowed the acid thinking it was cough medicine and that is all there is to say."

RECKLESS AUTOIST MAY FACE SERIOUS CHARGE.

At about 2:10 o'clock Sunday morning a man driving a Cadillac coupe with three girls in the back seat cut the traffic standard at the corner of Washington avenue and North Front street. The automobile was proceeding at a high rate of speed at the time. Officer James P. Martin who was on North Front street signaled the man to stop and he refused to do so and proceeded on down North Front street. A few hundred feet further down North Front street toward Wall street Officer Clarence W. Brophy heard Officer Martin call to the driver of the car to stop and upon his failure to do so Officer Brophy stepped into the street and put up his hand for the driver to stop. The driver turned his car directly at Officer Brophy and drove the officer to the sidewalk and proceeded on down North Front street. Both officers secured the number of the automobile and reported the matter to Sergeant Phinney at police headquarters.

There will undoubtedly be further developments as it is said that the party who drove the automobile was recognized by several people.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT FOUR TIMES SUNDAY

The fire department responded to four calls on Sunday. At 7:45 o'clock fire was discovered in the roof and attic of the two story frame house of George Rickard at 12 Fletjen avenue. The fire was extinguished with chemicals. The damage was not heavy.

Sunday afternoon a grass fire in the rear of 12 Summer street, and Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock grass fires in the rear of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church called out the department.

The department was also called to the United States Hotel at the West Shore Broadway crossing. Men had been working on a ladder and scaffolding painting the big Forst sign on the roof of the hotel. In some manner the ladder and scaffolding extended in a dangerous position over the roof and the fire department was called to place them further back on the roof.

HELPLESS SHIP ADRIFT A MONTH, CREW EATS RATS

Nineteen Sailors Who Left Vessel in Lifeboats Believed to Be Lost.

San Francisco.—Without food or water and having drifted more than a month after a storm had rendered their vessel helpless, fourteen of the thirty-three men of the crew of the Japanese steamer Taishin Maru No. 3 were rescued in mid-Pacific by the Standard Oil company's tanker Java Arrow.

The other nineteen of the crew, who left the Taishin Maru in lifeboats, are believed to have perished.

When the Japanese ship, with its fuel exhausted and its cargo jettisoned, was sighted by the Java Arrow on its way from Yokohama to San Francisco, the fourteen surviving seamen, including the captain, mates and engineers, had been without water five days and without food, except rats and the ship's cat, twenty days.

Word of the rescue was relayed by the Dollar Line's steamship President Wilson, 5,500 miles from this port.

Caught in Storm.

Caught in a storm off Shiriya, 150 miles from its destination, the Taishin Maru, a vessel of less than 1,000 tons and without wireless equipment, battled head winds until its fuel was exhausted. Then, with its cargo thrown overboard, the ship drifted southeastward toward mid-Pacific.

On January 20 one lifeboat with eleven men put away from the drifting steamer. Five days later eight men left it in a second lifeboat.

Laconically the wireless message received at the Federal Telegraph company's station here told of the deprivations of the rescued men.

"Men aboard uneat last twenty days, no water last five," it related. "Caught rats, made soup. Later caught no more rats; crew ate cat."

Aboard the Java Arrow bound for San Francisco are Captain Makatani of the Taishin Maru, the first and second mates, the chief, first and second engineers and eight of the crew.

Young Mother, Dying, Shields Babe in Crash

New York.—With her memory partly gone but happy in the knowledge that her six-months-old baby girl had escaped without a scratch, Mrs. Flora Loritsen, twenty-three, is in St. Barnabas' hospital, Newark, probably dying, after being run down by an automobile at Broad and Orange streets.

Mrs. Loritzen held her baby in such a position in the flashing moment she realized she had been struck [illegible] landed on top of her as she fell in the street.

At the hospital the young mother, after being told that her baby had escaped injury, gave her name, but said she could not remember where she lived nor what her husband's first name was. All she recalled was that she came east with her husband from Two Rivers, Wis., a short time ago. She is suffering from serious internal injuries and a possible concussion of the brain. She was well dressed.

Finds Poor-Box Thief Averages $40 Weekly

New York.—Willard Purbs, twenty-one years old, a clerk who was earning $16 a week until he lost his job several months ago, was arraigned in Morrisania court, charged with robbing poor boxes in Catholic churches. Purbs, whose wife is an expectant mother, told of averaging $40 a week from the poor boxes. He said he used a screwdriver. It was possible to remove the cash from the box and replace the cover without traces of tampering, he said. Usually he entered a church at noon, when there were few worshipers and emptied all the boxes.

CROOKS PREY ON CLINIC PATIENTS

Infest Little Town Where Doctors Mayo Are Located.

Rochester, Minn.—Gamblers, confidence men, card sharps, swindlers and tricksters of all types infest the little town of Rochester, Minn. Attracted there because of the hundreds of men and women who seek treatment in the famous Mayo Clinic, these crooks exact a toll of thousands of dollars a year. Scores are swindled out of their railroad fares, or even their life savings, and the Rochester police have a busy time.

So numerous are the swindlers who prey upon the sick in the town that one member of the police department does nothing but keep an eye on them. He has been on the force for many years and knows most of the crooks by sight. When he recognizes them he compels them to leave town or arrests them for vagrancy, which means a jail term.

Most of the money taken from the sick is obtained through "fake" stock transactions, spurious loans, and in gambling games operated in hotels by professional gamblers of remarkable skill.

Most of the transients have no relatives or friends in Rochester, so they quickly respond to the advances of the strangers. Then plans are laid quietly and almost before the traveler knows it he is robbed.

Very seldom are the authorities able to recover such losses. The crooks always leave town until the deal is forgotten.

Star Boarder Subs at Altar for Bridegroom

Cambridge, Mass.—Mrs. Alene Best Doolin, seventeen, deserted at the altar only to be proposed to on the spot by William H. Doolin, nineteen, whom she met but two weeks before, is now on her honeymoon.

Mrs. Doolin was married by Rt. Rev. Arthur S. Trotman in St. Luke's African Orthodox church, in the presence of a mixed company. Doolin, an army clerk, is white, as was John J. Halligan, twenty-one, Mrs. Doolin's first fiance.

Mrs. William Best, mother of the bride, and Bishop Trotman, the choir, and numerous acquaintances were assembled in the church on January 17. Time passed, but the bridegroom did not arrive. The bishop grew impatient, the bride nervous and the mother tearful.

Finally Doolin, a boarder in the Best household, stepped forward and offered to substitute. Mrs. Best stopped crying. "Go see the bishop," she said.

Now the ceremony has been performed, and this time neither bride nor bishop was kept waiting, and "we're all happy," says Mrs. Best.

"Demon Monster" Is Seen in Canadian Lake

Vancouver, B. C.—Another "demon monster" has made its appearance in British Columbia and the description tallies in many respects with that credited the Okanagan lake mystery creature. The latest addition to British Columbia's water curios has been discovered in West's lake, a very deep body of water about two miles wide and four miles long, on Nelson island in Jervis inlet, says H. C. MacCallum, in the Province.

The only white man who claims to have ever seen the "sheillilcan" is John West, who settled on the foreshore of West's lake 35 years ago.

"In many ways it resembled a turtle," said Mr. West in describing the "sheillilcan." "There were two parts showing above the water, one the head and the other a part of the back. The head was about the size of that of a calf, the cheeks were yellow and its features were like those of a monkey. The visible part of the back was about six feet long and shaped like that of a deer."

Feed Birds From Air

Altoona, Pa.—Feeding of birds from the air was declared highly successful by officers of the Blair County Game, Fish and Forestry association as Edward Haynes, a commercial aviator, again took wing for a second day's flying over the snow-clad mountains to scatter feed and corn over the tree tops.

Steams to Death

Chicago.—Fainting in a Turkish bath while attendants supposed him to be resting on a couch in another room, Policeman Frank T. Walpole, was smothered to death.

16-Year-Old Girl Is Heroine at Fire

Plain City, Ohio.—Bravery of Alice Billingsly, sixteen and the ingenuity of her father, John Billingsly, farmer, saved the lives of Alice and five younger children when their home burned.

Trapped with her brothers and sisters in an upstairs room, Alice, at the direction of her parents, who had escaped to the yard, carried the children one by one to the window and dropped them a few feet to the snow-covered roof of the front porch.

Hitherto they had lifted the children to the ground by inserting their night clothing on the limb of a long peckstick.

Heavy Forest Fire Loss

The greatest enemy of the forest is fire. In an average year 30,000 forest fires occur in the United States. They burn about 7,000,000 acres and do a damage in property alone of $10,000,000.

Only a Buick Could Stand this Test!

Buick has the only chassis built today that can take a "shower bath" while the engine is running and driving the wheels.

Only Buick provides the design which could undergo such punishment. Of all cars built today, Buick alone has the complete protection of the "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple-Sealed Engine."

A "Triple Seal" (air cleaner, gasoline filter, oil filter) stops injurious outside elements at every engine port of entry.

Road slush and grit cannot reach Buick vital parts. Rain and moisture cannot cause short circuits in the Buick electrical system. Even the spark plugs are covered!

Come in and see, with your own eyes, why Buick motor cars are more dependable. Only a Buick could stand the "shower bath" test!

Cookery Course Opens Tuesday

Three Day Home Service Cookery Course of Kingston Gas & Electric Company to be Held by Miss Bodkins.

When the three-day home service cookery course of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company begins Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the new home service auditorium at 5 Field Court, the women of Kingston and neighboring communities will be introduced to a new feature of the home service activity carried on by the gas and electric company. Organized classes on household management are to meet regularly in the new auditorium arranged and equipped especially for this work. These classes are to be conducted without charge for the women of this vicinity.

Cooking Tender Cuts.

The three-day cookery course beginning Tuesday will be good introduction of the new service. It will be conducted by Miss Margaret H. Bodkin, home service director for the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, who is well known in this community both through public lecture and demonstration work and through the personal help she has given many local women along home economics lines.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Home Service auditorium at 5 Field Court, Miss Bodkin will give a demonstration on "Cooking the Tender Cuts of Meat." Contrary to popular belief buying tender meat does not necessarily mean that it will be tender when served at the table. Improper cooking methods may toughen the tenderest meat while correct cooking makes it possible to retain both tenderness and flavor. Miss Bodkin will explain the selection of meats, especially sirloin and roasts, for tenderness, and will demonstrate the best methods of cooking them, as well as attractive ways of serving.

The second meeting will be held on Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., on the subject of "Light Breads," which will include fancy breads and rolls. At the third class on Thursday, Miss Bodkin will discuss and demonstrate "Fine Ways with Pastries."

At all of these classes printed recipes will be distributed and the food prepared during the class session will be served.

Homey Atmosphere in Auditorium.

There is a homey charm and a real spirit of hospitality in the new home service auditorium where the modern ideas of labor saving and convenience in the household holds sway. Especially attractive and interesting is the model kitchen arrangement on the demonstration platform. Beneath a double casement window with colorful cretonne draperies and dainty white curtains are the white enameled gas range and sink—where good light and fresh air make kitchen tasks more pleasant. A pot of flowers and bright colored bowls on the wide window sills help to bring spring within the four walls of this room.

The kitchen cabinet, electric refrigerator and other kitchen equipment carry out a white and green color scheme. Modern labor saving gas and electric appliances, as well as the best general kitchen utensils are a part of this model demonstration kitchen. There is a glass-enclosed ceiling light which throws a silver shadowless radiance into every corner—a light that makes work easy and eliminates the annoyance of dodging one's own shadow. The modern conception of a kitchen as a workshop of convenience and attractiveness is embodied in this auditorium, maintained by the Kingston Gas and Electric Company as part of their greater service to residents of the communities they serve.

An "At Home" Day and Library Service.

Miss Bodkin is always glad to give personal help on request and for the convenience of local women has established an "at home" day in the auditorium. On Monday of each week she will be there from 9 a. m. to 4:45 p. m. testing recipes and new appliances. At that time she will gladly discuss individual problems of household management with women who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity. A good collection of books on home making is made available for use within the auditorium, as well as current monthly magazines on subjects relative to activities in the home.

Regular Classes Scheduled.

There are already several regular courses scheduled by Miss Bodkin to meet in the home service auditorium. Each Monday at 5:30 p. m. a class will be held for employes of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company. A business girls' class has been arranged for Wednesday evening at 7:30. Thursday afternoon at 2:30 there will be a class for housewives.

Other courses and special lectures will be arranged by Miss Bodkin for girls' and women's organizations on request so far as this is possible. The home service department of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company is also ready and willing to cooperate in every possible way with religious organizations and other educational interests in Kingston and nearby communities.

Cloche Hat Will Hold Popularity

Headgear Is Designed With Precise Relation to Coiffure.

Hats have never before been designed with such precise relation to the coiffure, observes a fashion authority in the New York Times. While great ladies of an earlier day wore still greater hair dressing the hat mattered little provided there was a spot on which it could perch. Now the coiffure simply is not complete the milliner has her opportunity. This season she is presenting some striking and refreshing things. For a year it has been prophesied that hats would be larger, but there was always the "hole" to be considered. Because of it the hat cannot be much larger, and so the cloche has been retained, with variants in the surface treatment. The crown of the new cloche, whether of fabric or straw, is draped. It is seldom seen in the severe form that is so trying to almost every face. The brim, remaining small, is treated in a number of clever ways, each definitely characteristic. It may be turned back from the face, a detail in line that is popular with those who like to show the brow with a strand of marceled or curled hair softening the face. Most women find the brim that rolls even slightly in the front or at one side more becoming than the tightly drawn straight line.

All the leading designers of millinery in Paris have reveled in the close hat of felt, cloth or other fabric, with soft crown and upturned brim. In some the crown has merely a wrinkle or single fold. In others it is a full-gathered puff forming the beret, ever considered by Parisiennes as the last word in chic.

The assurance of designers of authority that hats are to be larger has been received with varying responses from women of fashion. Those who have made long and weary search for a covering for their braids and coils are joyful. The shingled and bobbed are dubious. The wide brim permits a becoming arrangement of hair that cannot be accomplished with short locks. Besides, the question of fastening it on the head will concern those who go in for the extremely wide brim. The new straws are lovely, with many novelties in weave and texture. There are some open, coarse straws of high polish and entirely new styles in the mesh.

Fullness Is Apparent in Fashionable Clothes

Slowly fullness has been creeping in on feminine clothes until now it is the rule rather than the exception. For dressy is the afternoon and evening frock of the current mode in this fullness appears. It sometimes is achieved by the use of plaits that are set in at intervals about the skirt and extend almost to the waistline. Another interesting point about the new frocks is the irregular line that is a feature with so many of them. Sometimes the skirt is cut into shallow curves and sometimes the waistline is raised in the front to accent the irregular hem line.

Fruit as face beauties an acceptable ointment for skin. They are sometimes shown in front and sometimes in the back. A charming model seen recently had four circular flounces upon the skirt. These flounces were raised slightly in the back and gathered so that they formed four tiers one over

UNPUNISHED CRIME.

The extensive survey of the crime situation in Missouri which has been in progress during the past year, as analyzed by Prof. Moley of Columbia University for the New York Times, is a startling exhibit of failure by both the police and the courts. Some facts of the situation in St. Louis in the year ending October 1, 1924, are given as follows: One hundred and forty-nine cases of murder and manslaughter reported and only 25 persons ultimately given "some punishment;" 2,701 burglaries reported and 107 punishments; 2,075 robberies, 379 warrants applied for, 247 warrants issued and only 85 persons punished; a total of 13,444 major crimes of seven classes, and only 574 punishments. In Kansas City the situation was shown to be "about the same," and the figures in general "indicate the practice of a criminal profession is not unduly hazardous."

The analysis of the penalties is equally startling. It seems that in more than 1,000 serious cases, in which the average length of sentence was 50.6 months, the average length of actual service was 11.5 months. Sentences of 99 years, which are often given, become in practice only 11.19 years of service. A life sentence becomes 10.59 years, and a sentence of execution means about 10 years in prison. As for the parole system, of 1,000 prisoners released on parole, 25 per cent disappeared immediately and another 25 per cent were returned to prison for new crimes. Moreover, many cases were lost between arrest and final judgment owing to delays permitted by legal routine. As the situation in most of our States is probably little if any better, and criminals in consequence going about their business with little fear of getting into lasting trouble, we need not wonder at the rapid increase in crime.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK.

The views on the prohibition situation expressed at Sprague Hall, Yale University, recently by Dr. Taft, principal of the Taft School, Watertown, Conn., are of more than ordinary interest because he is a brother of the Chief Justice of the United States. Not necessarily but probably the views of Dr. Taft are influenced by those of our Chief Justice.

Dr. Taft is quoted as saying that "the United States is threatened with the rotting of its moral foundations and of its entire political and social structure as a direct result of prohibition." According to Dr. Taft, a "reasonable enforcement" of prohibition "would take many years" and they "would be years of moral chaos and rottenness and full of danger." Already "corruption has honeycombed the police and detective services and the national enforcement service, and has reached many of the prosecuting officials and in some cases the bench itself." Already this corruption is "eating out the foundations of national integrity," already "an entire generation of young people are growing up to flout and defy" the law. "Any man who inquires deeply ... seriously must feel that ... upon us."

The country is in very serious danger of losing its "musical ear" because it is listening to no less than eight million pianos that are "out of tune"—or such is the not wholly unexpected view of the president of the National Association of Piano Tuners.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

MAKING GOOD RISKS FROM POOR RISKS.

In former days the insurance companies were very strict and absolutely refused insurance to applicants with certain conditions of the body. Now, however, one statistician tells us they take such cases, but make the applicant pay a little more for insurance. Sometimes they agree to pay only a certain percentage of the policy, if death occurs within the first few years after issuing same.

The applicant may be perfectly sound organically, but there is something about his type of body that the insurance examiner doesn't just like.

One of these is the large red faced individual with thick neck and large abdomen. He is likely fond of the good things of life, but takes little exercise. He is apt to develop high blood pressure, and be subject to heart and kidney ailments.

The opposite to this type is the slender applicant with thin blood, a weak muscular heart and low blood pressure. He is a possible tubercular case, does not resist ordinary illnesses very well, and would have a hard time if attacked by appendicitis or pneumonia.

Sometimes this type of individual is advised to build himself up by outdoor air and exercise, and promised more consideration if he returns in six months or a year.

An applicant with a history of ulcer of stomach or intestine, is not accepted until he has been free of the symptoms for some time, and even when he has undergone the operation for this, he is required to wait two to three years before he is given a policy.

Applicants with attacks of middle ear trouble occurring at frequent intervals, are not considered good risks by the companies.

The family history is unfortunately still taken very seriously, and these examiners must have their reasons for so doing.

The point about the above is that care, thought, a little sacrifice perhaps, can so change conditions in the body that a "deferred" risk may become what is known as a first class risk.

And the effort not only makes the body that much safer to insure, but the individualc gets such good health, and such an enjoyment out of life, that the effort is repaid many times over.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

The old French War, so called to distinguish it from that of 1755, was declared by Louis XV on March 15, 1744, and accepted by England March 29. It was two months before the news reached New York although known a month earlier by the French in Canada.

To secure the friendship and active aid of the Six Nations, Governor George Clinton of New York called a council of the chiefs of that confederacy, who met at Albany, June 18, 1744 and "renewed, strengthened and brightened the covenant chain that had so long tied them and the subjects of his majesty the great king, their father, in mutual ties of friendship."

Although inclining to peace the Indians promised in the strongest terms to stand by their friends if attacked. But during this war, as in others preceding it, the French and their allies were most actively aggressive, sending out almost daily small parties of savages to annoy and distress the frontier settlements, and bring back such plunder and captives as they could find. The points of attack in New York were the settlements along the Mohawk and Hudson, especially Saratoga, Schenectady and Albany, and the outlying places.

No family was safe unless protected by blockhouse or palisade; no man was exempt from military duty save age or infirmity. In Schenectady and Albany men kept watch every third or fourth night.

French and English reports alike give sad accounts of shocking barbarities practiced on both sides by skulking parties of savages and white men. Many atrocities were committed by these two Christian nations, who rewarded their savage allies in proportion to the number of scalps returned.

On November 16, 1745, three hundred French and two hundred Indians commanded by M. Marin, attacked the Dutch settlement at Schuylerville, where the inhabitants were massacred without any opposition. The country was ravaged, houses burned, saw mills and lumber destroyed, and thirty inhabitants killed and scalped and about sixty persons taken prisoners.

On April 20, 1746, a party of Six Nations attacked Fort St. Frederic (now Crown Point), then quickly followed incursions to Fort Orange, Schenectady, Saratoga and other nearby places, when many were killed and scalped and many others carried away captive.

Abraham Glen raised a company of one hundred volunteers for the defense of the frontier, but the French and their allies were even bolder. The Mohawk killed an officer and several troops of the French garrison of Crown Point in August, 1746, and then the inhabitants of Albany, Schenectady and Saratoga were between two terrible fires. On October 12, 1746, sixteen men were killed near the fort at Saratoga, when the troops behaved in a cowardly manner.

In April, 1747, the attacks were directed towards Crown Point and many of both sides were killed. On the 7th, a party was ambushed at Saratoga and eight killed; three days later eleven were killed and nine captured at Kinderhook, and the house and barn of John Van Alstyne burned.

On June 15, 1747, a great force of French and Indians attacked Saratoga and killed sixty of the garrison. The place was soon relieved by Colonel Schuyler. On June 26, Chief Hendrick returned from a march into the French country. They had been surprised on an island near Montreal, when four whites and nine Indians of Hendricks's party were slain.

The distress and sufferings occasioned by this mob in and about Schenectady and Albany were so great that petitions, calling for aid were circulated and sent to the Provincial Assembly July 27, 1747.

The petitioners set forth that every man who had been obliged to attend in person or pay a hired man to stand on watch, and yet were now called upon to send a quota of men to Oswego. They prayed for relief from this demand and claimed that they were impoverished for the supplies of fire wood, candles, powder and ball, and that this expense was in addition to the voluntary expense in providing and setting up new stockades where the old ones had gone to decay or were destroyed by the enemy.

As this war drew to a close, in 1748, Schenectady met with the severest loss it had suffered at any one time since the massacre of February 8, 1690. This catastrophe is what has generally been called the Ben-Kendrad Massacre, July 18, in which twenty were killed and thirteen taken prisoners.

Child Health Day, No Accident Day

New York, March 29.—May 1, already observed as Child Health Day, will also be No Accident Day for children throughout the United States, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce and President of the American Child Health Association, announced today.

This city, according to Secretary Hoover, will lead the country in the project. The New York commissioner of police, George V. McLaughlin, has pledged himself to appeal personally to every policeman on his force to make May Day safe for children. Dr. Louis I. Harris, commissioner of health, who is leading the Child Health Day demonstration here, has called upon the Department of Education to warn parents and their children about traffic dangers.

Mrs. Aida de Acosta Root, delegate to the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, recently called by Secretary Hoover in Washington, representing the American Child Health Association, offered May Day—National Child Health Day to the conference, asking that they make of it National Child Safety Day as well. She said:

"Last year in America, traffic killed 7,000 children, a number equal to 20 per cent of the entire number of men killed in battle in the United States Army in the World War. Is it any wonder that we of the American Child Health Association feel the futility of saving thousands of children from disease only to have their lives ground out beneath the wheels of motors?"

Dr. Henry N. Bundesen, Chicago Commissioner of Health, will ask Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and other organiaztions of young people to aid the police department of that city in accident prevention on May 1. Every large city in the country will be organized on similar lines and at midnight on May Day a telegraphic roll call of cities will be held by the American Child Health Association to determine which city has been safest for children during the day.

Your Smile and Your Teeth

Anna Q. Nilsson

Don't Believe Your Teeth are "Naturally" Off Color

DENTAL science has found a new way to lighten cloudy teeth. A way, thus, that often changes a person's whole appearance. Your teeth, it's been learned, are not naturally off color—simply coated with a film that absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc.

You can feel that film now with your tongue; a slippery sort of coating. It is there largely because your present dentifrice is failing in its duty. Ordinary dentifrices don't fight film successfully.

Now a new-type dentifrite has been discovered. A film-removing paste, called Pepsodent. Famous $100,000 stars of the movies use it before going on a scene. That's why movie smiles are so gleaming white.

Leading dentists urge it because it protects the teeth and arms the gums. Film breeds bacteria that invite tooth troubles and pyorrhea. It imperils your teeth, your gums; and makes your smile unattractive.

LEGION'S CHAPLAIN HOLDS D. S. CROSS

Reverend Patrick won the coveted D. S. C. while serving with the Twenty-third Infantry, Second division in the Meuse-Argonne offensive of November 1 to 11, 1918. The citation awarding him the Distinguished Service Cross reads:

"For extraordinary heroism in action during operations on the the Meuse river, France, November 1-11, 1918. Chaplain Patrick searched for wounded, gave them first aid and assisted in their evacuation under heavy machine gun and artillery fire. His firm determination to go wherever he could be of service, disregarding his personal safety, was a constant source of inspiration to all officers and enlisted men of his battalion."

Rev. William E. Patrick.

Chaplain Patrick has a long and distinguished record of Legion service. His advance has been a gradual one. He first served as chaplain of North Andover post, North Andover, Mass., 1919-22. Then he moved to California and was immediately elected chaplain of Ventura County post, holding that office until 1924, when he was elected department chaplain. Finally came the highest honor at Omaha, where his comrades saw fit to elevate him to the national office.

Reverend Patrick was born at Cambridge, Mass., in 1890. He is a Harvard graduate and holds the degree of A. B. from that institution, as well as a B. D. degree from the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge. He was ordained a deacon in 1910, and ordained a priest in 1916. He is at present rector of St. Paul's church at Bakersfield, Cal. He is married and has a son and two daughters.

Consolidation Plan at Legion Headquarters

Consolidation of four divisions and a redistribution of functions of national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis was put in effect following approval by the national executive committee of the consolidation plan suggested by National Adjutant James F. Barton. The object of the plan is greater efficiency and economy.

Under the consolidation, administration and membership and organization divisions become the administration division. Frank E. Samuel, former director of the organization and membership division, will head the administration division in addition to serving as assistant to the national adjutant.

Emblem and film divisions have consolidated under the title of the emblem division. Oakleigh E. Marquette director of the emblem division, will retain directorship of this division.

The post activities section, is consolidated with the community service bureau [illegible] the name of the former, its scope is the same as ever.

THE PRAIRIE DOG

Spring had come, so the prairie dogs were waking up and attending to their business.

They had had a fine winter's nap in their holes in the ground.

There is a very big yard in the zoo which is filled with holes.

They are cousins of the woodchuck family and so they always have holes for their homes and they spend the winter in sleeping, usually just as every woodchuck does.

But the woodchucks are rather solemn and sad whereas the prairie dogs are the most cheerful little animals imaginable.

Yes the spring had come, and so had the baby prairie dogs.

They come into the world in the summertime which is the nicest time of the year to them.

"I've heard," said Papa Prairie Dog, "that some creatures in the Zoo don't sleep all winter long."

"Fancy!" they stay awake!"

All the prairie dogs stopped to listen wagging their little tails, and said in their barking voices:

"Fancy staying awake all winter!" "That's too foolish for words."

So they didn't use any more words in speaking about such foolishness.

"Yes, it's true," continued Papa Prairie Dog, "do not sleep during the

"They say that it is because they do not get a chance here to eat all they want in the autumn, so it will last them all winter.

"In the zoo they are fed regularly and can't eat ahead of time.

"But no matter what they might do in the zoo, feeding us regularly or not, imagine our family staying awake all winter.

"Winter—the time of the year for sleeping—not just the night time or part of the twenty-four hours of the day and night but the whole, glorious, sleepy time winter.

"Imagine us, I say, staying awake all winter."

And the little prairie dogs laughed.

Have you ever heard them laugh?

They look like guinea pigs, you know, but they are called dogs because they have funny little barking voices which sound very much like laughter.

And their tails are very quaint and funny and look just as though they were laughing at some extremely good joke.

In fact, prairie dogs look as though they saw jokes backwards and forwards.

"It's going to rain," said Papa Prairie Dog, a little later.

So it did!

It [illegible] hard and the dirt became muddy.

But every prairie dog set to work, digging with their front feet into the soft earth, pushing the mud with the loose soil behind up their holes.

They all looked as though they had had wet heads right up to their ears.

They always work on rainy days, because the ground is soft then.

They do this out of the zoo and in the zoo—in fact their lives are about the same in captivity and freedom.

And though they are always so cheerful and merry, still they never become [illegible]. Nor do they ever become very [illegible] no matter where they may be.

But oh, what jolly times they do have among themselves!

Another Woman Pays

Mamie had been [illegible] was spoiling her whole evening. All evening long he had been [illegible] trying unsuccessfully into the parlor where she was entertaining her new escort—or trying to—and he'd cut mean looks or whispered promises had proved to be of any use.

Finally, becoming desperate, Mamie turned to her caller, and said, "Mr. Frobb, if you haven't the money to send that imp of Satan to the movies, I'll loan it to you."

A Crop Shortage

The Girl: How many needles did you find this year?

Farmer Boy: None that I know of, Miss.

"Mr. Gotbucks, I have heard a lot about your wedding and I was particularly interested to learn how the ring was this year."

Best Part of School

"My son has started to school and was much interested in telling his dad about it in the evening. Last night he asked John what part of it he liked best and the little boy answered: "Oh, recess, daddy!"

Nutty Natural History

By HUGH HUTTON.

THE ARABIC NUMB BEAR.

This peculiar animal was discovered by the French scientist Descartes on a trip to the Hejaz district of western Arabia, where he was investigating the origins of mathematical equations. It seems that the Numb Bear is a distant relative of the polar bear and was brought from the north by Haroun-al-Raschid for the entertainment of his harem. It has never become properly acclimated, being numb with the heat and most of the time in spite of its webbed-lined feet that aimed it from the burning sands. The bears would have all died of discouragement long ago if they did not hear Arabian soldiers singing "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold."

[illegible] Most of the [illegible] bears like the one above, travel on their hind legs made of almond kernels and cores, instead of their split heart and clove front legs, the latter not having the asbestos lining. The [illegible] is a clove, the body a peanut and the head a small pecan. Spaniary beans form the ears.

New Trophy for 8th Grade Girls

American Legion Auxiliary of New York State Decides Some Special Distinction Should Be Awarded to Girls Alone.

The best all-round eighth-grade girl student in every community in New York state is shortly to be determined as a result of the announcement of a new honor to be conferred by the American Legion Auxiliary, composed of wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of ex-service men who are members of the Legion.

The American Legion Auxiliary Eighth Grade School Medal" award is the name of the new trophy. The medal is to be given to the girl in each community in the eighth grade who excels in scholarship, honor, service, courage, leadership and Americanism. The medal itself is of solid bronze and is supplied in a beautiful presentation box from National Headquarters of the Legion. Accompanying the medal is a certificate. Instructions on this new award have been forwarded the four hundred auxiliaries of the Legion in this state by Mrs Ella B Ransom, state secretary, from the Hall of Records, New York city.

Awards to school students between the ages of twelve and eighteen for essays on Americanism have been carried on by the Legion for several years and the new award is based upon the feeling of the auxiliary members that some special distinction should be awarded the girls alone. The eighth grade was picked as most representative of the school grades and as typifying the age at which young girls show best the character which will govern their lives.

Announcement has also been made by Mrs. Ransom from state headquarters of the auxiliary of the observance of Mother's Day on May 9th. Ceremonies will also be held by the auxiliaries in connection with the National Music Week, from May 2nd to May 8th.

Doctors make more monumental mistakes than any other profession.

In a Kingston church the minister announced his text "Paul we know the Apollos we know, but who are these?"

Just as his voice rumbled away into silence a new usher who was showing two strangers into a pew, turned to the minister and replied "Two men from Port Ewen sir."

What Rose Says About Politics

Former Kingstonian, Now Editor of Pennsylvania Newspaper, Discusses "The Small Town Newspaper Divorces Its Party."

With thousands of political campaigns gathering momentum in all parts of the country, an article in the March Scribner's Magazine by Will Rose, editor of the Cambridge Springs (Pa.) Enterprise-News, and son of A. D. Rose of this city, comes as well founded information to politicians and candidates everywhere.

Rose calls his article "The Small Town Newspaper Divorces Its Party." His discussion of this far reaching development reflects a wide experience in national advertising in Chicago and New York city and in newspaper capacities in Erie, Washington (D. C.) and Cambridge Springs. Ten years of this period in the country, or inland, editor's chair has automatically placed him in the thick of many political campaigns.

In fact Rose is being urged to make himself a candidate this year and may enter the Senatorial campaign in the Crawford-Mercer district of Pennsylvania.

Scribner's calls the author "The Ed Howe of Pennsylvania" and has announced that this article is the first of a small town series by Rose which will be published in successive issues.

"I did not walk down our Main street to the office of Justice of the Peace Moses with the express purpose of talking with him about the passing of the partisan press," writes Rose. "But the subject came up and we talked about it for some time. I am sure that the thousands and thousands of political managers of all major parties can profit from our discussion and the conclusion at which we finally arrived.

"At the start, let's get a clear look at the two widely different men who were talking.

"Justice Moses was a classic partisan newspaper editor for more than forty years before he decided to sit back and take things more leisurely in a legal office. I, on the other hand, am a young newspaper man, one of the many business men, rather than editors, who are successfully at the helm today, and what success I am achieving in the average inland field is due to a definite business policy. Party politics receives a very small pinch of my active mind in the conduct of my newspaper.

"Justice Moses and I agreed that the day of the partisan newspaper in America has passed. Had we disagreed, this article would have much less point.

"It has not been my good fortune to sit in at national or state headquarters of any political party. But I have been on the receiving end of campaign publicity and propaganda for some time, and I have kept my eyes open. I am decidedly mistaken if the party managers are not badly confounded by the present newspaper situation. They cannot get their propaganda into the big dailies at all. At the same time, the smaller dailies and weeklies cannot afford to use their stuff without editing it severely and thus destroying the exact effect which party headquarters intend. Just why this is we shall see a little later. In truth, party organizations are facing a tremendous problem. A solution may easily elect the next president. Do headquarters realize this?"

After a sane discussion of the development of advertising, tremendous newspaper investments, consolidations and other factors in the newspaper world, Rose continues:

"Some may view this new situation with alarm. 'How are we to maintain our two party system?' they ask. That, you will admit, is the problem of the party and not of the newspaper. However, I, for one, know that the present situation is much better for the newspaper and I believe that it is more wholesome for parties and for the nation. But the party will be obliged to get up to date to meet the situation. It will be forced to revamp its methods of keeping the public informed of its principles and its objectives. A few suggestions may be in order.

"The major candidacies are legitimate news. Their progress, their speeches, will always be carried by the news wires. This insures them representation in dailies; and, as far as these larger newspapers are concerned, the only problem of the political managers is to select candidates who can say something and do something. I do admit, of course, that it is becoming exceedingly difficult to make a weak candidate look strong.

"And while the day when columns and columns of propaganda to be set in type in the newspaper plant without editing has passed, both dailies and weeklies are more greedy than ever for good feature material. But it must be good. And it must be reasonably accurate, sound and largely in picture form. The Republicans made a good start along this line in the Coolidge campaign when the old cap basket of the Coolidge farm (a very good and novel substitute for the appeal of the old oaken bucket) was presented to Henry Ford, and other subjects, liberally painted with what is known as 'human interest' were sent to all newspapers. The 'publicity' of the Democratic National Committee in the same campaign stuck to the old-fashioned proof sheet filled with 'stuff' that the publisher could not afford to print, and I am sure that no great amount of it got into print for this reason.

"The parties can do, also as any legitimate enterprise does; they can purchase display space where and when they care to and can write their copy to suit themselves. Even today this would prove to be the most effective use of publicity funds. Eventually it will constitute the sum of expenditure."

A FADED CHRIST

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

DO YOU like to think of your dead as dead?
What of your Christ, who was crucified?
Yet many a Christian bows his head
And worships a Christ that long has died
The Christ they see when they upward look
Is a Christ they saw in a picture book.

Their Christ is a Christ of Galilee,
A Christ of an ancient long ago,
His robe they know and his staff they see,
But they only think that they see and know.
For always backward their look is cast
To an ancient Christ of an ancient past.

And if their Savior has not sufficed
In some hour of sorrow, some night of care,
'Tis because they prayed to a faded Christ.
Far back in an ancient land somewhere,
Because they never did understand
That He sitteth today at God's right hand.

Mother's Cook Book

I'm just a little ditty and not the least bit witty,
But listen, I've a secret up my sleeve,
If you're forever sighing
And all the world decrying,
Your friends will all excuse themselves and leave.

COMMON GOOD THINGS

IT IS the everyday foods which we like served differently and with variety.

Vegetable Chowder.

Take thin slices of fat salt pork, cut into dice and try out. Cover half a dozen sliced potatoes with boiling water and cook until nearly done, salting well, then add the pork and one can of corn, the water in which the potatoes were cooked and enough milk to make the desired consistency. Serve hot with crackers.

Carrot Marmalade.

Scrape and slice thin one pound of carrots, cook until tender, drain well and run them through the meat chopper. Set in a cool place over night. To three cupfuls of carrots add the juice and grated rind of two lemons, four cupfuls of sugar, two dozen blanched almonds cut into shreds. Let stand until the sugar is dissolved. Stir well and simmer slowly until the mixture is smooth and thick. Add as little water as possible. Before putting into glasses, add a few drops of almond flavoring. A mixture of orange and lemon may be used, adding a different flavor to the marmalade.

Ginger Cream.

Make a custard of the yolks of four eggs and the whites of two, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of preserved ginger sirup, and one pint of milk. Just before the custard is done, add a teaspoonful of gelatin and let it completely dissolve. Turn into molds, sprinkle each mold with preserved ginger. Serve with cream.

Oysters a la Newburgh.

Take three dozen oysters and liquor (about one and one-half cupfuls), put into a saucepan, add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt and one-half cupful of water, and simmer for five minutes. Place in the top of a double boiler and add a speck of cayenne, one tablespoonful of orange juice and cook five minutes. Now add one-half cupful of cream, one-fourth cupful of milk, and cook five minutes longer. Meanwhile beat the yolks of two eggs with one tablespoonful of cream and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Add to the oyster mixture, stirring constantly. Serve hot on buttered toast.

Car Load Sale of Marvel Combination Ranges

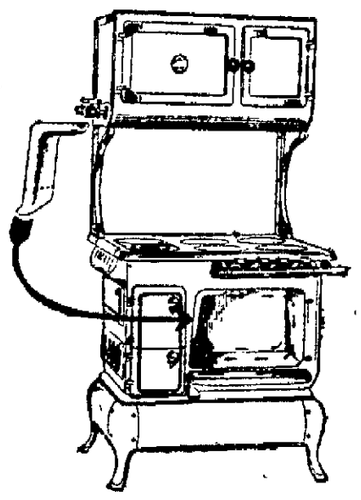
To quickly interest a large number of buyers I have made unusual preparations for a Car Load Sale of Marvel Ranges.

FIRST—I bought a carload of ranges, thus saving a big discount in price, besides freight and crating charges.

SECOND—I have marked the prices low enough to sell the entire car load in a week, which is another big saving, due to quick turn over and reduced overhead.

THIRD—I decided to donate my labor free, and make all plumbing connections without extra charge, which is a very big saving for you.

BUT, you'll need to select your range this week in order to take advantage yourself of all these savings.



With the Marvel Combination Range you have a most complete cooking unit. Here are two complete ranges in one, which occupies the space of but one small stove.

There are four covers for coal and four burners for gas. A large twenty inch oven for coal and a full size eighteen inch oven for gas, with a big gas broiling oven. The coal water front and the gas water heater are quick, efficient and economical. You can use coal in winter and gas in summer or, you can use both coal and gas together if you wish.

You should select this range with the new porcelain finish, for a black stove is as much out of date as a cast iron sink. It's as easy to clean as a china dish and makes your kitchen a pleasant place to live in.

THE STORY OF STOVES

Now, before anyone starts housekeeping he buys a stove. Not always so, for the story of stoves winds interestingly along with the story of mankind. In the early days there was no cooking, never a square meal. Amazing indeed is the story of the discovery and control of fire. It is a remarkable story, the story of stoves, from the first flames around a few blocks and rocks to the modern kitchen range. But civilization makes great demands upon new achievements and ultimately there had to be the New Improved Marvel Range. Come in and look it over.

LONDON PLEADS FOR AMERICA.

London, March 29, 1776.—The King has given his answer to "The Humble Address and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London" on behalf of America, which was laid before him on March 22. The petition and His Majesty's reply have been made public. The incident is now closed but not without leaving for future generations a definite record of the sympathy for the American colonists which many Englishmen are known to harbor.

"We humbly conceive," said the Lord Mayor's address to His Majesty, "that no people can be bound to surrender their rights and liberties as a return for protection. The Colonies have fought our battles with us, and in the last war they so far exceeded their abilities, that this nation thought it was necessary to make them their annual compesation. * * * Indulge, most gracious Sovereign, the humanity and benignity of your own Royal disposition, and our prayers will be granted. We implore the extension of your Majesty's justice and mercy toward that Continent which, when arbiter of the terms of peace, it was your Majesty's own determination to prefer to every other compensation for all the expenses of the last war."

To which address and petition His Majesty was pleased to return the following answer:

"I deplore, with the deepest concern, the miseries which a great part of my subjects in North America have brought upon themselves by an unjustifiable resistance to the constitutional authority of this Kingdom, and I shall be ready and happy to alleviate those miseries, by acts of mercy and clemency, whenever the authority is established and the now existing rebellion is at an end. To obtain these salutary purposes I will invariably pursue the most proper and effectual means."

What these "proper and effectual means" are to be is evident in the despatching of an armed packet yesterday to General William Howe, the King's commander-in-chief in America with information that 12,000 Hessians are being sent to Howe, and that all the Brunswickers and Waldeckers and nine British battalions will soon reinforce the British army now opposing the Americans in Canada. The same letter to Howe suggests that "the securing the affection and assistance of our old friends and allies, the Indians of the Six Nations, is a consideration of no small importance."

McCoy's Rinolin Greatest Help When Constipation Is Chronic

Why Purge Yourself Daily When This Modern Emulsion Will Establish Regular and Natural Bowel Movements in 10 Days or Money Back?

Seems too good to be true, but after you thoroughly remove the waste deposits and expel every particle of poisonous waste from the intestines, the active peristalsis that results will make you forget pills and salts and calomel and all purgatives and cathartics for weeks to come.

And when your bowels move regularly as nature intended they should move, what a difference it will make in you—and all for the better.

Your skin will be clearer and cleaner for one thing and your eyes will sparkle with healthy brightness; for constipation surely does cause dull eyes and sallow skin.

Yes; and your mind will be keener, too, and vigorous physical activity will take the place of lassitude, dullness and lack of ambition.

For habitual constipation is a condition that is so unnatural that often the blood becomes polluted with the toxins that seep into every fibre of the system—often causing auto-intoxication.

But now McCoy's Rinolin, the new pleasant to take emulsion, tells millions of unfortunate victims of constipation that if they will follow directions for ten days—perhaps less—that bowels will become regular and natural and stay that way for many days to come.

McCoy's Rinolin is the new Emulsion that United Retail Chemists, McBride's Drug Stores, Wm. F. Dederick's, and druggists everywhere are selling so much of. It is guaranteed to rid you of habitual constipation in 10 days or money back—just follow the directions. Rinolin tonight—Feel fine tomorrow.

Doctor Was Right

"Buy a car," said the doctor. "You get out more. You ought to take a pounds."

Speaking of the results obtained by this prescription, the patient says:

Be sure to get real Resinol

If you want to get rid of eczema, pimples or some other distressing skin eruption, insist upon obtaining Resinol Ointment in the original package. It is put up in opal jars, two sizes only—3½ oz. and 1½ oz. Preparations similar in name or appearance and those offered as or for Resinol are not "just the same as Resinol." Many of them have little healing power, and may even be dangerous to use.

Resinol is never sold in bulk

Science Tells Why Gum Reduces Fat

Here is why fat-reducing gum brings such a rapid reduction when more elaborate treatments have failed. Science discovered a remarkable harmless medicinal ingredient, purely vegetable, free from thyroid or dangerous drugs, which dissolves fat cells more thoroughly than any other known method. It was found that it acted even quicker if well chewed. So it was embodied in a deliciously flavored fat-reducing chewing gum called "Slends." No starving is necessary, yet reductions of several pounds a week are reported. News of this new, easy way to reduce has spread so rapidly that local druggists have stocked Slends heavily to take care of the big local demand.

NOT ONE BUT TWO COLORS, OR SEVERAL SHADES OF THE ONE IS THE SMART NOTE AT THE MOMENT IN COSTUMES

A year, or was it more ago, time flies so, the world was wearing shaded chiffon, also called degrade since it is a melding of shades from the darkest to the lightest. Then presto change, degrade chiffon disappeared! The impression remained however in the mind of fabric makers for just recently one finds the idea appearing in wool, in silks and in sequins, and rumor has it that cottons are taking on degrade markings. One particularly smart interpretation of wool degrade shaded from smoke gray to an almost natural kasha, this fabric being used for a travel coat lined with a wonderful shade of red duvetyn and belted in suede, one identical with the belt, being added to the high straight collar. Degrade kashas have been used for coats and sports suits with excellent effects of course and on has found sports frocks in silk which have carried out the same idea. In spangles the idea is particularly worthy of comment, not only because it is effective but because it really is new. A frock with rather a full skirt was sphinx at its hem and ran the gamut of dull rose to flesh colorings, and another was from sphinx gray to white. The idea of using shaded chiffons and georgettes as a foundation for beading has been approved and in some rather elaborate versions the beads show a chameleonlike quality and change with the foundation. Anyone following resort reports must have been impressed by the favoritism accorded the combination of pink and blue for sports wear. They will rejoice to hear that these colors are as happily united in beaded gowns and in evening frocks generally. A pink and blue chiffon for instance was fringed with crystal, and another, silver net, was a lovely mass of pink, white and blue beading. The newest note in beaded dresses is perhaps the reproduction of vivid futuristic colors and designs by beading, and sequins.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A "Stylish" Model.

5387. This design embodies the latest style features, in the "peasant" sleeve and godets. Crepe de chine, radium silk, velveteen of taffeta could be used for this style.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. A 10 year size requires 2¼ yards of 40 inch material if made with collar and long sleeves. Without collar and with short sleeves 1¾ yards will be required.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1926 Book of Fashions, showing color plates, and containing 300 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle illustrating 20 of the various, simple stitches, all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Bodice Is Plain, With Girdle Tying in Front

This cool, soft dress of Britton green georgette should appeal to the young women. The bodice is plain with girdle tying in front. Tiny little flounces making a flare on the skirt and the sleeves are stitched in gold.

Blouse Is Important Feature of Ensemble

Ensembles show a tendency to one tone, and accessories are chosen to give significance to the effect as a whole. The blouse, which appears in new and intriguing styles, is very important and the best houses are presenting many models of original design. Because of the attention given by the best artists to this single article in the costume, its importance and dignity have been greatly enhanced. An unfitted blouse of metal cloth, brocade or metal lace, worn with a plain skirt of the same kind of fabric, of velvet, or with a finely plaited skirt of crepe, chiffon or taffeta, now constitutes a dress that is considered correct for tea dances and other elaborate occasions.

The fashionable blouse is one of costly simplicity in which many delightful models from the best designers are shown. The house of Martial et Armand is especially fond of working in white. Their latest blouses in white crepe and the soft silks are charming. Most of these are tailored in cut, with straight lines, in flat plaits; and usually embroidery is introduced in some manner. One especially chic model in white crepe has narrow plaits stitched flat from top to bottom of the front, with cross stitching and a dainty flower pattern embroidered in black and white. A point in these latest blouses is the collar, with revers turned back from the open front and worn without a tie of any sort.

Straw, Straw and Felt Combined and Ribbon

Straw, straw and felt combined and ribbon are answering the demands for early spring, and have become an established mode at the Southern resorts. Blancho presents a favorite model that is certain to please in any setting, and will carry far through the coming season. It is of black grosgrain ribbon sewn together to form a rather high, full crown with but a suggestion of drapery, caught at one side with a silver bar. The little brim, which forms a piquant frame for the face, is made of straw cloth, one of the new spring hat materials. This is also in black. Some particularly striking hats in this straw cloth are draped in soft turban style. In one rather extreme shape the brim is but a bandeau of silk, and the straw cloth is drawn to a high crown line, very low at one side. This is the type of hat that is described as half turban, half headdress. It is shown in a number of intriguing models from leading Paris houses bearing the names of Reboux, Martha Regnier, Agnes and Suy.

Swagger Sports Scarf

The most swagger of all sports scarfs look like the little French coffee cloths one sees on the other side. The design, which resembles a conventional old print, is worked out in bright, clear blue, with just the right shade of red. These scarfs come in a variety of sports materials, including crepes, shantungs, tussah weaves and pongees.

New Scarfs Are Short

The smartest scarfs are short and narrow and worn tied at one side of the neck, with the ends hanging down over the shoulder. Frequently they are in decided contrast to the frock with which they are worn.

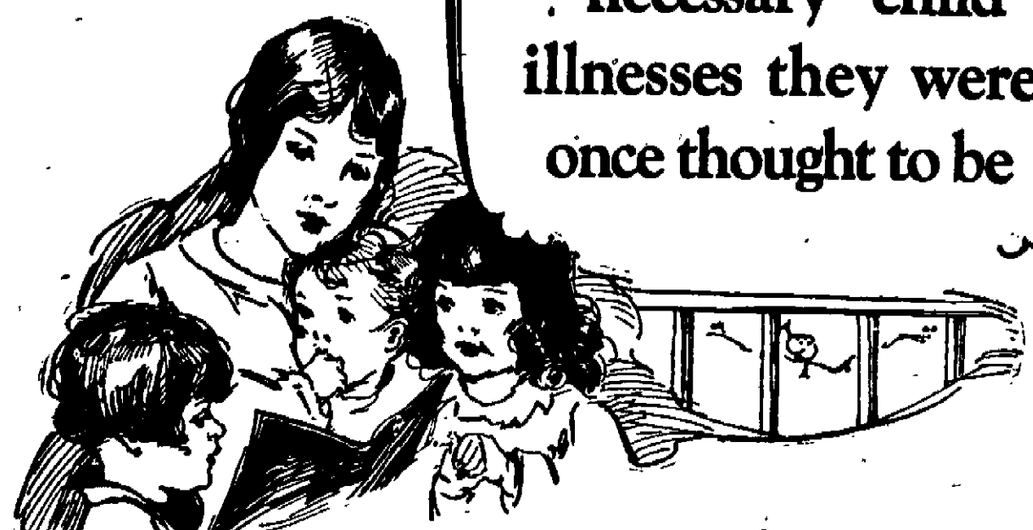
Jumpers Are Striped

Jumpers of silk or knitted materials, with the stripes running crosswise, are extremely smart. They are worn with plaited silk skirts in a plain color which matches the most important stripe.

Child illnesses often leave behind them a trail of weak lungs, damaged hearts, impaired kidneys and injuries to the digestive organs and the delicately balanced nervous system.

The fact that there is, unfortunately, a deep-rooted belief in the minds of many parents that these diseases are a necessary evil, is, doctors report, one of the most difficult obstacles improved child health has to overcome.

Children's diseases which anguish mothers so tearfully are not the "necessary" child illnesses they were once thought to be



THE important new thing about child health for all mothers to know is that protection from disease can be developed in children.

For it is now known that susceptibility to disease can be greatly reduced by the kind and not the quantity of nourishment a child receives.

But in order to develop this "acquired resistance," as child health specialists call it, mothers must be watchful in planning child meals.

They must include certain foods known for their contribution of the growth and health-promoting elements so necessary during the growth years.

Otherwise children during the unstable years of most rapid growth will not develop the physical fitness which so often successfully resists disease germs.

Mother's Oats with milk, 1 cup of each, for instance, contribute 23% or nearly one-fourth of the growing child's daily requirement of the tissue-forming protein, the one food material that contributes the most to growth.

Choice of foods that are unsuitable for growing children is considered by authorities to be one of the most important things needing correction.

An interruption of growth in children, due to an insufficient quantity of growth foods, may not be noticed by the mother who is constantly with her children.

Indeed, many mothers, not knowing the real cause, often mistakenly ascribe the abnormal condition that results, to "heritage," family "characteristics" and individual "peculiarities."

Mothers of growing children often write:

"Does Mother's Oats contain the bran of the natural whole grain?" It does.

While others have taken away some of the valuable parts of breakfast cereals, the careful millers of Mother's Oats have seen to it that these delicious breakfast oats contain every bit of all the wholesome and nourishing parts of the natural whole grain—vitamins, minerals, bran and all.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply with the fingers and works right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

REASONABLE CARE IN PRUNING PAYS

Pruning now occupies the attention of fruit growers, and questions arise concerning the best procedure under certain conditions. Experience shows that orchardists prune too much, without regard to the real need of the tree. It is pointed out that with trees which are well selected when the orchard is set out, it is necessary to remove only occasional branches which start out in the wrong place, and to remove dead, injured and crossed limbs.

If the trees are bearing small fruits, if the tops contain many dead branches, or if the seasonal growth is short and scant, judicious pruning is recommended as a means of rejuvenation. This usually consists in cutting back many branches, and in entirely removing others. The following general rules are applicable under such conditions: Prune weak-growing varieties heavily; strong-growing kinds lightly. Varieties which branch freely need little pruning; those with many unbranched limbs, much pruning. Prune trees in rich, deep soils lightly; in poor, shallow soils, heavily.

The cutting back of all the branches of a tree is practiced regularly only with peaches, and some plums. This is attributed to the fact that, with these fruits, the wood of the past season, and therefore the crop, is borne progressively further away from the trunk, so that it is necessary to head-in these fruits by cutting back the branches in order to keep the bearing wood near the trunk. On the other hand, apples, pears, cherries, and most plums are borne on spurs from wood two or more years old, and with these heading-in is not so desirable. Experimental evidence indicates that winter pruning has no special advantage over summer pruning, except that the pressure of other work is less during the winter months.

Strawberry Root Louse Feeds on Tender Parts

The strawberry root louse passes the winter as a shining black egg, which, in early spring, hatch wingless summer females that mature and give birth to living young. These are all females and give birth to young throughout the season. Winged males and females appear at the approach of cold weather in the fall.

At first the summer females feed on the young, tender parts of the plants above ground, but in the latter part of April they move down to the roots of the plants, where colonies are established. The little brown field ant is responsible for the moving of this aphis to the roots. The aphids multiply very rapidly, one generation following another about every fourteen or sixteen days. At the approach of winter males and egg-laying true females appear. The females deposit their winter eggs on the leaves and leaf stems above the ground.

Loss caused by the strawberry root louse can be avoided by setting clean plants on uninfested land, by adopting a crop rotation and by turning under abandoned beds as soon as the crop is harvested.

The plants for new beds may be freed of aphids by waiting until all the eggs are hatched and then dipping them—roots, plants and tops—in a solution of nicotine sulphate, using one part to one thousand of water.

Mosaic Disease Causes Trouble With Raspberry

Raspberry growers have within the last few years become acquainted with a serious disease known as mosaic. This is one of the so-called virus diseases which is carried in the sap of the plant and is spread from plant to plant by means of sap-sucking insects, the principal offender being a large green aphid or plant louse. This disease has become so serious in most of the raspberry growing states that drastic efforts are being taken by nursery inspection forces to hold it under control. It reduces the vigor of the plant, and consequently the yield. The fruit is smaller and more crumbly on mosaic plants than on healthy plants. So sweeping in its effect has been the mosaic disease that in some states entire varieties have been discarded because of the prevalence of infection. Nurserymen and fruit growers cannot be urged too much to make every effort to secure and maintain disease-free plantations. If mosaic-free plants can be secured and planted in beds isolated by at least 20 rods from any other raspberry field, they can generally be kept free from the disease. It will require watchfulness and immediate digging and destruction of infected plants wherever they appear.

Transplanting Evergreens

Spring is considered to be the best time to plant evergreens, especially if the trees are of any size. Seedlings only a few inches high may be safely planted in the fall provided they are mulched to keep them from drying out. Evergreens may be planted in the latter part of August or early in September, if weather conditions are favorable, as this will give them time to become established in the soil before winter sets in. The trees should be handled carefully.

County Clerk's Office Re-wired

Fred R. DeGarmo, electrical contractor, has just completed rewiring the Ulster County Clerk's offices. The old wiring in the building which was of the old style open type was condemned by the Underwriters Board of the state and it was necessary to install new wiring of an approved type. Unless this wiring was done as recommended the fire rates on the building would have been advanced very considerably. The job was put out under bid to contractors and Mr. DeGarmo was the lowest bidder.

The job has now been completed and a certificate issued by the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization approving of the work.

Much of the old wiring was of the open type placed directly against the wooden beams and studding of the building. Under constant vibration from passing trucks and trolley cars the insulation on the wires had practically worn through in numerous places producing a fire risk of considerable magnitude.

Methodist Group Contest Tonight

The Kingston District Oratorical Contest will be held in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock. This contest is part of the New York Area Oratorical Contest.

Four groups of the Kingston district will be represented in the district contest. The judges of the contest are Dr. Myron J. Michael, superintendent of the Kingston city schools; Miss Mary E. Noone and Miss Madelene Tarrant, English teachers of Kingston High School.

Vernon Miller and the Y. W. C. A. Mandolin Club will assist with the program.

Dr. George Benton Smith will preside as chairman.

The winning contestant will be given a scholarship at any one of the three Epworth League Summer Institutes held under the Area Epworth League; Drew at Madison, N. J., Drew, Carmel, N. Y., or Wesleyan, Middletown, Conn.

The winner of the district contest will also take part in Annual Conference Contest which will be held Saturday evening, April 10 in New York city, during the time the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is in session.

The prizes offered the contestants at the Conference Contest are one year tuition scholarship in Syracuse, Wesleyan or Ohio Wesleyan Universities, and a second prize of $50 library.

The final or Area Contest which will probably be held in May will close this year's contests and the winner will receive the $2,000 college scholarship in any college which the contestant may wish to attend.

On week days service will be furnished from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. from Kingston and from 7:20 a. m. to 7:20 p. m. from Rhinecliff. On Sundays the first trip will be made at 7:40 a. m. from Kingston and 8 a. m. from Rhinecliff and the last trip at 8:20 p. m. from Kingston and 8:40 p. m. from Rhinecliff.

Passengers desiring to connect with New York Central trains at Rhinecliff are advised to consult the full timetable, as in a few cases the ferry connecting with a train will leave at a different time than at present.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 29.—Industrial stocks broke to new low price levels today under the influence of a steady stream of selling which found the market unprepared and unable to absorb these offerings except at wide concessions in prices.

The mercantile stocks and the western utilities were the leaders in the early decline of prices, but selling soon spread to the dividend industrials, the motors, the coppers and the specialty stocks. United States Steel fell 3 points to the year's lowest price of 118½, the first time the stock has broken through 120 this year. Hudson and General Motors, no longer able to withstand the deluge of selling bonds which poured in from every side, broke to the lowest prices of the year, Hudson finally being driven through 80.

Call money renewals started the session at 4¾ per cent, but the banks made heavy calls on the market and the rate advanced to 5 per cent, the French franc was quoted at a new low of 3.41½. The grain markets were again unsettled and cotton prices were unsteady.

Stock sales in the first three hours aggregated about 1,800,000 shares or at the rate of 3,000,000 shares for a full session. Rallying tendencies were in fourth hour were brushed aside as the result of special weakness in the railroad stocks, including the southwestern merger stocks and the eastern high grade dividend shares. The oils also made their lowest prices in this period, after having held quite steadily through the bulk of the 1926 liquidating market.

Bearish traders were ready to help along the decline in the high priced specialty stocks, including Du Pont, which dropped 8½ to 195; General Electric down 4; Cast Iron Pipe down 5; Kresge down 4; Montgomery Ward down 5; Texas Gulf Sulphur down 4; International Harvester down 6; Allied Chemical down 4½.

MINERS FORGOT OLD STORIES OF GHOSTS

Anthracite Workers Joyous Over End of Strike.

Conspicuously absent from the conversations of the anthracite miners who recently returned to work was the old superstitious talk of ghosts and skeletons seen in the mines upon return after suspension of work.

In former years not a strike ended, but that trouble was not experienced at some of the collieries by miners' refusing to go into certain pits in the mines because they alleged they had seen a ghost or had heard some unearthly ranklings. At one of the operations near Ashland, Pa., three miners came rushing up a gangway one hour after they had returned to work at the end of the 1922 strike, and absolutely refused to return to their pit because they had seen the ghost of a mine mule which had been beaten to death at the mouth of the pit by a cruel driver on the day before the suspension went into effect. The three men were given work in another portion of the workings and others sent to the pit where the ghost of the donkey had been seen.

In years gone by such superstitious tales were especially prevalent among the newly arrived foreigners in the mines and they spread rapidly among all the men. In the Locust Gap district the story of how a youthful miner one afternoon went back to his pit to get a watch which he had forgotten and never returned, was revived with the first day of work. The young man never returned to the surface of the earth and a systematic search failed to reveal the body. The compensation department of the state refused to pay compensation in the case.

The men went cautiously into the pits which had marked the grave of other miners before the suspension started. In the underground caverns, dug out of solid coal, where there is no light except the flickering flame of a carbide lamp, superstition is certain to breed and develop. There are still miners who will swear that they have seen the returned ghosts of men who died at their work.

Especially are brutal accidents breeders of superstition. In the sections of the mines where a fall of top crushes the life from a man's body or where a sudden rush of water carries a man down an almost perpendicular slope to his death on the floor of the next lift hundreds of feet below whole gangs must often be transferred to other sections in order to prevent the dangers of a growing superstition.

Such superstitious talk, however, was absent on this occasion, for the men were joyous over the end of the long strike.

Nothing Stops Mail Boat

No stress of weather ever prevents mail boat service from taking off foreign mail from incoming ships in New York harbor. Day and night, every day in the year, the staunch little fleet is ready to take off from 1,000 to 14,000 bags of mail. The idea is that the mail can be transferred while the public health inspection of passengers and crew is taking place at quarantine.

The saving in time in expediting the mail is from 24 to 40 hours over the old method of handling on the pier and, in the case of mail for the Far East, the saving is often from eight to ten days. Chutes and nets are in readiness when the incoming vessels drop anchor. When the mail is transferred, word is flashed to the post office and trucks are entrained to handle the mail.—Scientific American.

Law Hits Barnyard King

Friends of Leon Barthou, a well-known artist of Paris, who is recovering from a severe illness and who has been unable to sleep at nights recently because of the barking of a neighbor's dogs, wanted to take legal proceedings to stop the annoyance. But M. Barthou informed them that the characteristic noises of all animals are tolerated in Paris except the crowing of the cock. Other birds and animals may make the night hideous with their noises, but chanticleer, proud symbol of the nation's awakening, must not crow. The rigors of the law are reserved for him alone and if he heralds the dawn he does so under pain of death.

Styles in Russia

Owing to Russia's isolation from foreign countries, styles in women's gowns, footwear and hairdress are taking a long time to reach the Moscow stores. So the Russian women and girls, who heretofore depended for the latest fashions upon Paris and London, now are creating their own styles. These styles usually follow the simplest lines. Silks and satins are rarely seen, and picture hats, silk stockings, afternoon frocks and evening dresses are luxuries. Dresses are so plain and devoid of trimmings that there is almost a note of masculinity in them.

Remarkable Record

Thomas Hinton, captain of the University of Kansas rifle team, fired a score of 398 out of a possible 400 in the college match with the University of Missouri team. He fired 100 prone, 100 sitting, 100 kneeling, and 98 standing. His feat gives him the new indoor intercollegiate rifle-firing record.

CLINTON AVENUE JUNIORS WON CHAMPIONSHIP

The Clinton Avenue Juniors for the second year in succession are champions of the Junior Sunday School League of the city. By receiving a forfeit Saturday night at the "Y" court the Clinton youngsters are now masters of the Junior division, having won eight league contests and dropped but two. The Trinity Lutherans proved the most dangerous threat to the Clintons throughout their league career.

Last year the Clintons also won the championship of the city, not dropping a single game all season. The Clintons now have two silver loving cups in their possession, permanently and also have won two legs on a large three-year cup in the Junior Sunday School League.

Jacobson was taken south by the Dodgers on trial and has made good. The Brooklyn leader also announced he had sent Harry Courtney, left-hander, formerly with Washington and San Francisco, home ahead of the club with a sore arm.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

Last night, like Saturday, was nearly perfect. No static, little interference or fading and only the average blooping. On the ordinary garden variety of receiving set whispers from KFI could be heard, while Havana, Tuinicu, Forth Worth and San Antonio came up from the south in good volume. WOAW, WOC, WOS, WSUI and WHO arrived from the west along with Zion and all of the Chicago stations.

WDBZ scored almost 100 per cent with the church service Sunday morning. There was little wire hum, perfect clarity and plenty of volume. The only blemish was when something that seemed to be a solo, right after the long prayer, was submerged in a hum. Dr. Seeley was sufficiently thoughtful to announce his name and that of his church in signing off, which was appreciated by those who tuned in late.

CKAC and CNRO were back in their old time vigor on Saturday night. WAIU, not often heard from, was also in evidence. WHAS, another absentee the past winter, reported for duty. WREO is another that came back Saturday night.

Daylight reception from the Philadelphia station has been stronger recently than ever before.

WEAF continues muffled early in the evening, less clear and loud than in daylight.

RICKARD EXPECTED TO GET YANKEE STADIUM.

New York, March 29.—Tex Rickard will confer today with officials of the New York Yankees on a project that was expected to result in the promoter obtaining the use of the Yankee Stadium for boxing or begin immediately the erection of an outdoor arena, seating between 110,000 and 120,000 persons.

Rickard declined to discuss the latter contingency today but it is known that he has his eye on a site in Queens and has made plans whereby he expects to rush the completion of the structure within three months. It would cost approximately $600,000, it was said.

K. G. & E. Bowlers Beat Po'keepsie

The K. G. & E. Company retained their title as champions of the Central Hudson System when they defeated the crack team of the Central Hudson G. & E. Company on the Rialto Alleys at Poughkeepsie Saturday afternoon. The local gas eaters led the way during the entire series. A remarkable team score was made in the first game of 947 pins and with a total score of 2,712 to Poughkeepsie's 2,526.

Lou Smith led in scoring with 232 while his team mate Peet was close behind with, 221 and with total pins of 620 and 591 respectively. Dutcher of Poughkeepsie lead his outfit with a score of 221.

This win enables Kingston to retain the President's cup which they won last year. If they win again next year, it will entitle them to permanent ownership.

Walsh Picks The Athletics

St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators, Second and Third, Respectively—Any of Three Can Win American Pennant.

By Davis J. Walsh.

New York, March 29.—They say one man's opinion is as good as another's, although I seem to recall the guest at Joliet who claimed he had one and the next day they took it away from him with a rope. But in spite of the fact that I bruise very easily, I'll prove that I hold with the idea in question by stating my opinion, pronto and as follows:

That the Philadelphia Athletics will win the 1926 pennant in the American League with the St. Louis Browns and Washington Senators crowding them hard at the finish. In fact, I will make a clean breast of the whole thing by stating that this is the way I think the teams would finish if they were at all accommodating:

1. Athletics
2. Browns.
3. Senators.
4. Yankees.
5. White Sox.
6. Tigers.
7. Indians.
8. Red Sox.

The Athletics, by every indication, are due. A young club, they had everything last year but a punch at the finish and this should come with the steadying influence of another campaign together. They are not very smart on the bases but it is difficult to see how a team can go wrong with all the hitting, pitching and reserve strength the Athletics can muster.

At that, any one of the first three teams could win the pennant without disturbing the national calm. The Browns are a hot possibility, with an impressive attack and the prospect of an improved defense through the medium of better pitching than they have had since 1922. Still, they haven't all around class and that's all there is to it.

The Senators, after winning two successive pennants, have started down the other side of the hill. Johnson looks to be ready for another good year and so do a few of the others, but, darling, they are growing old. It isn't in the cards for a club like the Senators to make it three straight.

I like the Yankees over the White Sox for fourth place, although the choice is a narrow one. Both have plenty of hitting and pitching and both are uncertain in the center of the infield. The Sox, however, are more uncertain there than the Yanks, who appear to have picked up a live one in Koenig. The ancient Everett Scott is supposed to play 100 games at short stop for the sox and, if he does, the sharps are very dull, indeed. One can't give the Sox too much as long as this condition exists.

Every one of the first five clubs should get better pitching than the Tigers and, if this isn't sufficient for them to outrank the Cobb entry, there is the matter of young players at second and third base for Detroit. It may be that the young men will become famous but you don't pick winners on outside possibilities of this nature. The Tigers will hit, as always, but I really don't think they are going anywhere.

The Indians, uncertain in pitching and infield defense, cannot hope for better than seventh place at this writing. The club has possibilities, at that, whereas the Red Sox have none.

REDEEMERS SUBMERGE PRESBYTERIANS 49 TO 6.

The Presbyterian quintet, a team which early in the season was bidding strongly for the Senior championship, offered nothing at all in the line of competition for the Redeemed quintet, a team tied for the championship, when the two clubs met Saturday evening on the "Y" court in a Senior Sunday School League match. The final score read: Redeemer, 49; Presbyterians, 6. The Redeemers found the irons for 23 doubles while the losers ventured that close to the loops only twice during the match. Hank Dittus and Chet Fox played the brilliant roles for the winners with 22 and 21 markers.

CLINTON SENIORS BEAT CHRYSLER FIVE 28-26.

The Clinton Avenue Seniors put themselves astride their long abandoned winning road, Saturday evening in Epworth Hall by playing the most brilliant game of basketball they have turned out in several weeks consequently pinning defeat on a group of stars known as the Chrysler Five by a 28 to 26 tally. The Seniors failed to do anything startling the first half outside of holding their own, but in the latter session the auto boys failed to restrain the Clinton team's healthy ambition and after a nip and tuck fight the Seniors emerged atop the scrap by two points.

LEADER TEAM TURNS TABLES ON VARSITY FIVE

The Leader team after having tasted a bitter defeat a week ago scored revenge Saturday night in Epworth Hall by trimming the Varsity Five by a 33 to 29 tally. The Leaders spurted ahead at the start of the match the score at half time being 15 to 8, but in the latter sessions the Varsity outfit gave the winners a great deal of trouble although the Leaders managed to keep one or two markers ahead. Chipp was most active in the Leader's offensive with 14 markers while Stumpf followed with 8. Irwin led the scoring for the Varsity with 10 points.

TUNNEY TO BE MATCHED IN IMPORTANT BOUT.

New York, March 29.—Reports of an important announcement soon to be made in connection with Gene Tunney, heavyweight championship contender, were circulated today. It was said that announcement would be made than Tunney had been matched with either Jack Dempsey or Harry Wills for a bout this summer, although one variation of the rumor had it that Tunney and Young Stribling would be the principals.

Stribling was en route today for Atlanta, preparatory to beginning training for a series of bouts next months at Wichita, Kansas, Topeka, Kan., and Kansas City. Tunney remained in town to undergo light training.

McGRAW SAYS SENATORS WILL BE UP IN FRONT

Tampa, Fla., March 29.—After watching the Senators in several exhibition games, John McGraw declared today that he expected the champions to be in the thick of the fight for the 1926 American League pennant.

"If the veteran pitchers hold up, I see no reason why the Senators should not be up there in the thick of the fight all the way," he said.

Carlarie Wins Race.

San Diego, Cal., March 29.—W. T. (Fatty) Anderson was still taking bows today, doffing his iron hat in all directions, while his big bay horse, Carlarie, winner of the Coffroth handicap yesterday, was in the paddock after a notable performance in which some of the best horses in America tasted neither but mud from his fast flying heels in the race that was worth $70,700 to his owner. Getting away to a good start, Carlarie was [illegible]
